SEO + AEO AUDIT

The main finding

The site already has a useful search foundation. The largest opportunity is to make its business identity consistent, strengthen the pages that answer travel questions and connect visitors to the right destination or service. A redesign or broad rewrite is unnecessary.

Priority	Finding	Proposed response
P0	The homepage, destination introduction, FAQs and footer describe an operator-based comparison platform.	Replace those specific statements with direct-provider wording; keep the comparison feature.
P0	Trust promises differ across the homepage, add-on guarantees and draft legal pages.	Align the public promises with approved business terms before repeating them in snippets or answers.
P1	Destination hubs exist, but most have very little destination-specific explanatory content.	Add a short useful introduction and a few genuine questions to selected hubs, keeping their current design.
P1	The cruise page mixes holiday enquiries with commissions and margins aimed at trade customers.	Use customer-facing cruise-service copy consistent with an independent provider.
P1	Some homepage content and links change after JavaScript loads; key service tabs are not separately indexable.	Serve stable content initially; make an intentional decision about service search landing pages.
P1	The www hostname failed HTTPS certificate checks in two clients.	Correct domain/certificate configuration and redirect it to the preferred non-www domain.
P2	Article authorship, internal linking and business-profile consistency can be stronger.	Improve entity details, connect related guides and hubs, and measure qualified enquiries.

What to keep: The visual design, hero headline, page layout, comparison tools, search and filters, imagery, editorial tone and most existing body copy. The proposed changes are targeted.

Coverage and how to use this report

The final reporting scope contains 61 public URLs from the live sitemap: 8 main pages, 43 destination hubs and 10 articles. Additional checks covered legal pages, account/payment page metadata, add-on tab URLs, catalogue filters, redirects, robots.txt and the sitemap.

Evidence level	What was checked
Live HTTP review	All 61 in-scope sitemap pages: status, title, description, canonical, H1/headings, rendered HTML content, links, image alternatives and JSON-LD.
Rendered browser review	Homepage, contact, cruise, destination catalogue and add-on services; compared initial HTML with loaded content where relevant.
Read-only source review	Metadata, schema, navigation and content templates helped explain observed behavior. Existing unpublished performance work is not treated as deployed.
Outside this report	Individual package detail pages; private admin/user records; transactions; form submission; Search Console, analytics, keyword-volume tools, backlink and ranking datasets.

Reading order

- Pages 4-9: positioning, homepage sections and shared navigation.
- Pages 10-14: listing, comparison, destinations, cruise, services and contact.
- Pages 15-18: technical SEO, domains, structured data and keyword strategy.
- Pages 19-25: metadata, answers, optional content and implementation.
- Pages 26-33: all 43 destination hubs. Pages 34-38: all ten guides.
- Pages 39-41: supporting routes, sources and audit limits.

How evidence is labelled

Observed means seen in live responses or rendered content. Recommendation is a proposed change. Confirm marks a claim requiring your operational records or a current authoritative source. A crawlable page is not proof that Google has indexed it.

The earlier exploratory review reached some package pages before you narrowed the scope. Their findings are excluded from this report. Catalogue and destination sections are assessed only as public browsing and search pages.

Keyword priorities are based on relevance, available content and business fit. No search volume, ranking position, traffic forecast or AI-citation score has been invented. This is a point-in-time audit, not a complete independent verification of every travel fact.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Make the business identity unambiguous

Primary positioning statement - ready to use

CompareMyTrip is an independent travel service provider offering its own holiday packages, weekend trips and travel services. Explore our plans, compare the details and book directly with our team.

Use this meaning consistently in the homepage introduction, destination copy, contact page, search descriptions and Organization/Service data. "Compare" describes how customers choose among your plans; it does not define the business as a marketplace.

Location / current signal	Proposed replacement
Homepage featured packages: references trusted operators.	Explore our featured travel packages, with trip details and inclusions to help you choose.
Homepage promotional banner: "500+ Travel Partners".	Our travel team Talk directly with the team behind your trip.
Homepage Why travel with us: "Local partners" / operator credentials.	Direct support Our team helps you plan, book and prepare for your trip.
Destination catalogue introduction: packages from operators.	Explore the destinations covered by our travel plans, then choose a package that fits your trip.
Footer closing line: every listing comes from an operator.	Travel plans and services provided by CompareMyTrip.
Homepage latest-deal explanation: operator discount.	See the applicable offer, inclusions and final price for your chosen trip.

Evidence: /, /destinations and the shared footer. These are business-identity corrections, not reasons to remove your comparison tools.

Do not describe CompareMyTrip as a vendor directory, intermediary, lead broker, marketplace, aggregator or network of operators. Do not replace those claims with unsupported assertions that you own hotels, airlines or cruise ships.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Positioning: FAQs, trust and service copy

Current area	Exact proposed copy
FAQ: Do you sell the packages yourself?	Yes. CompareMyTrip is an independent travel service provider. We offer our own travel plans and services, and you book with our team. The comparison feature helps you choose between our plans.
FAQ: What happens after I send an enquiry?	Your enquiry goes to the CompareMyTrip travel team. We discuss your requirements and explain the proposed trip, price, inclusions and booking conditions before you decide.
FAQ: Is the price on the card the price I pay?	Check the price basis and inclusions shown for the trip. Ask our team to confirm the total for your dates, travellers and chosen options before you book.
Homepage hero supporting sentence	Explore our travel packages, compare the details side by side and book the trip that fits you.
Footer description	Explore and compare CompareMyTrip travel plans, from weekend getaways to holidays in India and abroad. Plan and book directly with our team.
Popup supporting copy	Tell us about your trip. Our travel team will help you explore suitable CompareMyTrip plans and explain the next steps.
Cruise service introduction	Explore cruise holidays with CompareMyTrip. Tell our team your preferred sailing, dates and cabin requirements to discuss your trip.

Words that need context

References to a competitor's quote, an airline name, a hotel or a cruise line can be factually necessary. They must not suggest that your website is a marketplace for third-party sellers. Technical infrastructure providers in the privacy policy are a separate subject and should remain accurately described.

Avoid creating new promises

Do not add "lowest price", "100% refund", "instant confirmation", "guaranteed visa", "all-inclusive", "no commission" or "24/7" to SEO copy unless the business can substantiate the exact promise. Your ownership statement does not itself establish those guarantees.

SECTION-BY-SECTION REVIEW / <https://comparemytrip.in>

Homepage audit: discovery and comparison

1. Promotion strip and main header

Observed: The strip promotes a 12% monsoon offer with MONSOON12. The initially served header phone differs from the fully loaded help line.

Recommendation: Use the same approved phone number in initial HTML and loaded content. Keep promotions current and consistent with the deal section. Navigation labels can stay familiar; destination links should lead to relevant hubs.

2. Hero headline, video and search

Observed: The H1 is "Smart travel packages. Better choices." Search supports destination, dates, traveller count and budget.

Recommendation: Keep the H1 and experience. Use the direct-provider supporting sentence from the copy bank. Do not put hidden keyword paragraphs in the hero or convert the decorative video into an SEO video page.

3. Top picks

Observed: Live catalogue cards appear after the homepage loads.

Recommendation: Keep the selection and shuffle. Ensure primary card names, links and essential content are available reliably to crawlers. Do not add a separate keyword target for every rotating selection.

4. Browse by travel style

Observed: Nine styles link to catalogue query filters. The design repeats some slides to create a continuous track.

Recommendation: Retain the carousel. Use genuine descriptive anchor text and correct filters. Keep decorative duplicates out of the accessibility reading order where appropriate; this is not automatically a duplicate-content penalty.

5. Trending destinations

Observed: The section claims interest growth over 30 days and shows hundreds of packages for individual destinations; the catalogue showed 58 total at audit time. Cards lead to the general catalogue.

Recommendation: Confirm what each number measures. If those figures are not documented, use "Explore popular destinations" and remove unsupported counts/growth claims. Link each card to a relevant destination hub where one exists.

6. Compare before you book

Observed: The section has up to three comparison slots and a lowest-cost-per-night explanation.

Recommendation: Keep the feature. Explain that the choices are CompareMyTrip plans. Label the numeric comparison method precisely; a lower nightly cost does not establish identical quality or inclusions.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Homepage audit: curated sections

7. Featured packages

Observed: Its introduction explicitly refers to trusted operators. India/international and travel-style tabs are already useful.

Recommendation: Replace only that introduction with direct-provider copy. Preserve the tabs, card layout and shuffle. Keep links tied to the actual displayed catalogue.

8. Weekend treks

Observed: Six static trek cards appear on the homepage. Their six linked targets returned 404 during link checks. The Tadiandamol caption calls it Karnataka's highest peak.

Recommendation: Repair the homepage card destinations using the current catalogue, without rewriting any package page. Correct the caption to "Coorg's highest peak" after editorial review; this is also how the site's trek guide describes it. Verify current access/permit facts before promotion. [R15]

9. Train/brand banner

Observed: The banner uses "Trusted by Thousands" and "500+ Travel Partners".

Recommendation: Preserve the visual banner. Replace the partner claim with "Our travel team". Keep a traveller count only if supported by business records. "Thoughtfully planned trips" is a suitable non-numeric alternative.

10. Domestic holidays

Observed: Seven image panels introduce destinations such as Ladakh, Rajasthan, Goa and Kerala. Loaded links are more specific than the initial generic links.

Recommendation: Keep the descriptive captions and imagery. Serve the correct destination links from the first response. Do not imply that every named subregion has a dedicated itinerary unless confirmed by your team.

11. International holidays

Observed: Six country cards include visa notes, travel seasons, flight times and indicative prices.

Recommendation: Keep the useful format. Add a last-checked date and official source for entry rules; state flight origin and whether a time is typical. Align the displayed starting price with the linked offer. Avoid copying time-sensitive visa claims into evergreen metadata.

12. Why travel with us

Observed: The section combines 500+ curated trips, 24/7 support, transparent pricing and verified local partners.

Recommendation: Keep the layout. Replace the local-partner claim with direct support. Verify counts and support hours. If numbers are not maintained, use factual process descriptions instead of large totals.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Homepage audit: offers, answers and trust

13. Latest deals

Observed: The initial HTML shows "up to 0% off", MONSOON25 and an end-of-month timer; the header promotes MONSOON12. /deals successfully resolves to the deals catalogue.

Recommendation: Use one current offer source across the header, section and destination. Do not show a zero-discount promotion while data loads. Confirm offer expiry and eligibility. Link to the final catalogue URL directly to avoid an unnecessary hop.

14. Travel gallery

Observed: Location-specific imagery and descriptive image alternatives already provide useful context.

Recommendation: Retain the gallery and natural captions. Keep meaningful photo alternatives; decorative images can have empty alt text. Do not stuff destination keywords into every image or claim stock imagery documents a real customer trip.

15. Traveller reviews

Observed: No separate review section appeared in the loaded homepage audit, although a review component exists locally. The FAQ describes a review collection process.

Recommendation: Do not add review-related SEO claims from the component alone. If reviews are shown later, use traceable, permissioned feedback and an accurate collection explanation. No invented ratings or review counts.

16. Travel guides

Observed: Three guides link to useful articles. Homepage estimated reading times differ from the article pages (for example Munnar 7 minutes versus 2).

Recommendation: Keep the section. Compute reading time consistently. Use "Written by people who went" only when authors' first-hand experience is documented; otherwise say "Practical guidance from our travel desk".

17. Before you enquire

Observed: The six-question FAQ appears on both home and contact. It is the clearest source of the incorrect comparison-platform positioning.

Recommendation: Use the replacement answers in this report. Keep answers consistent across both locations. Separate general enquiries from the paid quote-beating service; do not make an unconditional no-charge claim that covers both.

18. Trust strip and newsletter

Observed: The strip promises price matching, 24/7 support and secure payments. The newsletter offers deals and an unsubscribe option.

Recommendation: Keep the newsletter. Scope guarantees with links to approved terms. Describe security precisely without absolute assurances. Confirm support availability rather than extending the claim through SEO copy.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Navigation, footer and business identity

Shared elements are repeated across many pages. Correcting them once has a larger effect on brand clarity than adding keywords to dozens of paragraphs. Evidence: the shared header/footer on / and /contact.

Element	Keep / improve
Header menus	Keep Explore, India, World, Cruise, Add On and Travel Guides. Ensure dropdown destinations are real anchor links and available to keyboard users. Make the initial and loaded menu labels consistent.
Telephone and email	The loaded footer lists 080 6927 7012, +91 95359 76868, +91 63627 80898 and support@comparemytrip.in. Confirm the purpose of each number; use the same approved format in contact content and schema.
Social profiles	Instagram, Facebook, YouTube and LinkedIn icons currently point to platform homepages. Replace with verified company profiles when available, or omit those icons. Generic domains do not establish your brand entity.
Company links	There is no dedicated About page in the public route set reviewed. A concise company block on Contact is sufficient initially; an optional About page can later explain the team, location and service responsibility.
Footer positioning	Replace the trusted-operator sentence and use the direct-provider description. Do not remove useful booking/contact links.
Platform and payment badges	BookMyShow, Swiggy Scenes and payment logos should reflect actual business relationships and available payment methods. Verify before turning them into trust claims or structured-data relationships.
Popup	Keep the enquiry form and clear close control. Avoid an intrusive first-visit overlay that obstructs mobile reading. Review triggers and frequency as an experience issue, without changing the offer itself. [R10]

Local identity

The live Contact page lists Ranka Junction, #224, 3rd Floor, Old Madras Road, K R Puram, Bengaluru 560016, near TIN Factory Metro Station. Confirm the public business address, customer-facing status and business hours before synchronizing it with business profiles and structured data. No profile was created or edited.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Package listing and comparison page

Package listing: /packages

Keep the existing "Holiday packages" H1, filter system, sort controls and cards. The initial HTML includes catalogue content, which is valuable. Your requested exclusion covers individual detail pages; no package descriptions or uploaded itinerary content are being rewritten here.

Section	Recommendation
Introduction	Add one compact sentence: "Explore CompareMyTrip holiday packages and choose a plan by destination, travel style and budget."
Prices and filters	State the price basis consistently. Make "from" pricing and date/occupancy conditions clear where applicable. Validate filters against their displayed labels; test India/international and trek categories after changes.
Destination links	Use /destinations/[slug] as the primary search landing page for a destination. Query-filter URLs remain useful for browsing, but should not compete with the destination hub.
Category targeting	Do not force honeymoon, adventure, beach, family and every destination phrase into the listing title. Keep one main holiday-package topic; consider dedicated style pages only when there is enough distinct useful content.
Pagination/loading	Keep all intended indexable destinations discoverable through crawlable links. If the catalogue later gains load-more or pagination, verify discovery beyond the first batch.

Comparison: /compare

The page has a descriptive H1 and metadata, but an empty shortlist has little explanatory content. Keep the current interface and add a concise how-to answer visible before selection:

Compare up to three CompareMyTrip plans side by side. Review the duration, price, stay, meals, transfers and booking conditions, then choose the trip that fits your priorities. Contact our team if you need help understanding a difference.

Its primary intent is "compare holiday packages". Keep the destination hubs focused on buying a destination trip. Comparison selections should not produce unlimited indexable combinations. A blank comparison is not a reason to add fake example packages.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Destination hubs: the existing SEO opportunity

The site already has 43 destination hub pages. All returned 200, had unique titles/descriptions and one H1. Their current structure is a destination heading, catalogue-derived counts/prices/duration, cards, and related travel guides when matched. This is a strong starting point.

Catalogue organization

Observed: The destinations page labels South Korea as India. The Karnataka hub includes trips whose destination labels are Munnar and Pondicherry.

Recommendation: Review the destination catalogue's taxonomy and distinguish where a trip goes from where it departs. These observations concern the browsing hubs; no individual package-page changes are proposed in this scope.

Destination naming

Observed: The live destination uses "Srilanka"; other familiar terms include UAE, North East and Jammu & Kashmir.

Recommendation: Display "Sri Lanka" consistently. Use search-friendly natural variants such as Dubai/UAE, Northeast India and Kashmir within relevant copy. Keep existing URLs unless a deliberate redirect plan is approved; spelling in body text does not require a slug migration.

Useful explanatory content

Observed: Most hubs have one offer and nearly identical catalogue-derived introductory sentences.

Recommendation: For priority hubs, add a short original introduction, a "how to choose" paragraph and two or three questions. Explain the destination using the actual offered experience. A small catalogue is not itself a reason to create more thin pages.

Internal links

Observed: Some articles use destination labels that do not match hub names exactly, such as Spiti versus Himachal Pradesh and Meghalaya versus North East.

Recommendation: Map those relationships intentionally. Link articles to the correct hub and hubs back to genuinely relevant guides. Do not claim a general regional offer covers every article route.

Proposed compact hub answer

"Explore CompareMyTrip travel plans for [destination]. Review the available route, trip length, inclusions and booking conditions, then contact our team to choose a plan for your dates." Replace the bracketed destination and add one specific, verified detail from the offered experience.

The destination appendix lists every hub, its keyword target and proposed metadata. Those drafts avoid fixed prices/durations so they do not become stale or require rewriting your uploaded packages.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Reviewed: /cruise. Sections: hero, six cruise-line cards, indicative pricing, enquiry buttons, three brochure links and "Why book with us". No enquiry was submitted.

Hero and cards

Observed: The page presents Norwegian, MSC, Cordelia, Royal Caribbean, Disney and Star Dream options. Cards use from prices and route regions.

Recommendation: Keep the browsing layout. Present CompareMyTrip's cruise-planning service clearly while retaining factual cruise-line and ship names. Independent service provision does not mean claiming to own the ships.

Benefits

Recommendation: This is trade-sales language, while the surrounding page speaks to travellers. Replace it with a customer benefit supported by the service. If a separate trade product exists, give it a clearly separate audience and page later.

Offer specificity

Observed: Starting prices are shown without dates/cabin conditions in the card text.

Recommendation: Clarify that final pricing depends on the sailing, cabin, occupancy and inclusions. Do not use "year-round availability" or "exclusive discounts" in search copy without current evidence. Check brochures for current dates and terms before promoting them.

Ready-to-use benefits

Clear cruise options: Discuss sailings, cabin categories and inclusions with our team.

Trip planning support: Get help understanding the cruise and any additional travel arrangements.

A direct point of contact: Plan your cruise holiday with CompareMyTrip.

Details before you decide: Ask for the applicable price and booking conditions for your chosen sailing.

Keywords and answer opportunity

Primary: cruise holidays. Secondary: cruise holiday packages, cruise booking assistance, cruise holidays from India. Use Mumbai or Singapore departure phrases only where the displayed sailings support them. A short "What affects the cruise price?" answer can explain cabin, dates, travellers and inclusions without inventing a discount.

Proposed title: Cruise Holidays & Booking Assistance | CompareMyTrip

Proposed description: Explore cruise holidays with CompareMyTrip. Discuss sailings, cabin options, inclusions and travel dates directly with our team.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Add-on services: five different search intents

Reviewed: /add-on and service tabs for Flights, Hotels, Visa, Transport and Bring Your Quote. Tabs currently share a canonical root page; query variants carry noindex. This prevents duplicate tab URLs competing, but also limits separate service discovery.

Service	Search topic and proposed short introduction
Flights	Flight booking assistance Share your route, dates and traveller details with CompareMyTrip. Our team will explain fare options, baggage and change conditions before you decide.
Hotels	Hotel booking assistance Tell us where you want to stay, your dates and your preferences. Our team will help you review stay options, room details and applicable inclusions.
Visa	Travel visa assistance Get help understanding the documents and application steps relevant to your journey. Requirements depend on nationality, destination and travel purpose; approval is decided by the relevant authority.
Transport	Outstation cab and airport transfer booking Plan an airport transfer, outstation journey or hourly rental with CompareMyTrip. Share the route, pickup time and stops so our team can explain the suitable options.
Bring Your Quote	Travel quote comparison Share your existing quote so our team can compare the itinerary, inclusions and total price with a CompareMyTrip offer. Review the service terms before paying a Token of Interest.

Recommended first step

Keep the five-tab design. Make the root page introduce all five services in visible, crawlable text. All five form panels are present in the HTML, with inactive panels hidden; browser checks confirmed the selected hotel and transport panels display correctly. Retain accessible tab behavior. Do not treat hidden inactive panels as a content mismatch.

Optional later expansion

If individual services are a business priority, create a unique, useful landing page for each service and retain the same visual components. Proposed future paths: /services/flights, /services/hotels, /services/visa and /services/transport. These are recommendations, not existing pages or a requirement for the first SEO release.

Do not simply remove noindex from every service parameter. Decide which stable URL owns each topic, then make its canonical, visible content, links and sitemap agree. [R5]

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Contact, guarantees and legal content

Contact page

Observed: The loaded H1 is "Where Will You Go Next?" while the initial response says "Tell us about the trip." The page contains an enquiry form, three next steps, contact numbers, Bengaluru address and the shared FAQ. Recommendation: Keep the friendly tone and form. Serve a consistent heading and approved details. Add the direct-provider statement beside the existing contact information. Use the same corrected FAQ as the homepage.

General enquiry versus quote-beating

Observed: Homepage FAQs say nothing is charged at enquiry. Add-on copy distinguishes free standard enquiries from a Token of Interest for the quote-beating service.

Recommendation: State the distinction explicitly. Do not put the blanket "free" claim into all service titles, descriptions or AEO answers.

Price-beat and Trust Guarantee

Observed: The add-on page describes TOI refunds plus 10x future rewards, hotel/transfer compensation and category-specific exclusions. The terms link leads to a draft policy.

Recommendation: Preserve the offer only in its approved form. Make eligibility, TOI amount, reward redemption, claim deadlines and exceptions readily accessible. Do not summarize the guarantee into an unconditional search claim. This is a content-consistency issue, not a legal opinion.

Terms, privacy and refund policy

Observed: All three pages return 200 and noindex/nofollow. They visibly say they await approval and that live bookings are unavailable.

Recommendation: Publish approved business information and policies before using them as evidence for search-facing guarantees. Noindex does not make the draft invisible to customers. Policy text must reflect the actual business and data handling; do not replace it automatically with marketing copy.

Ready-to-use contact introduction

"Speak directly with the CompareMyTrip travel team. Tell us your destination, travel dates and preferences, and we will help you explore our travel plans and services."

Business-profile consistency

Use the approved company name, address, phone, hours and owned social profiles consistently on the site and existing business listings. Only describe a customer-facing office or service area when it accurately reflects how the business operates. No directory or profile changes were made.

Evidence: /contact, /add-on, /terms, /privacy, /refund-policy.

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Technical SEO: maintain the good foundation

Check	Observed / recommendation
In-scope sitemap pages	61/61 returned 200; each had a title, description, canonical and one H1. No duplicate titles or descriptions were found within these 61 pages. This is crawl readiness, not an indexing report.
Descriptions	All 61 current descriptions were at most 166 characters. Length is not the main issue here; identity, specificity and relevance are. Google can use different snippets. [R3]
Canonical URLs	Destination and article pages use their own canonical URL. The homepage canonical omits the trailing slash, which is normal root normalization. Sample catalogue filters canonicalize to /packages.
Robots controls	robots.txt allows public pages and disallows /api/, admin, account, checkout and auth routes. Login/account/payment pages have noindex. Robots blocking can prevent a crawler seeing noindex; review this intentionally rather than adding blanket blocks. [R6, R7]
JavaScript dependency	Homepage content, navigation and contact wording can differ before and after loading. The /api/ path is blocked to compliant crawlers. Render essential public content and links in the page response so discovery does not depend on that endpoint. [R8]
Sitemap maintenance	Keep only canonical, intended search pages. Preserve honest last-modified dates, submit in Search Console and monitor indexing there. Excluded package detail pages are outside this report's sitemap-policy recommendations.
Filters and services	Keep browsing filters separate from destination search landing pages. Service-query noindex is deliberate today; an indexable service strategy requires distinct useful content and stable URLs.
Performance	Existing local performance work is not a live audit result. After any release, measure field Core Web Vitals and mobile usability. No Lighthouse score, field pass/fail or traffic gain is claimed here. [R10]

Do not add meta-keywords tags, repeat the brand twice in titles or make unnecessary URL changes. Search titles and descriptions are useful summaries, not guarantees of exact search-result display. [R2, R3]

SEO + AEO AUDIT

Domain variants and crawler access

Preferred domain

Observed: <http://comparemytrip.in/> returned a 308 redirect to <https://comparemytrip.in/>. The main HTTPS site loaded successfully.

Recommendation: Keep HTTPS and the non-www origin as the consistent destination for canonical tags, internal links and sitemap URLs.

www hostname - confirmed configuration issue

Observed: <https://www.comparemytrip.in/> failed certificate hostname validation in both Python requests and curl during this audit. No security bypass was used.

Recommendation: Review DNS and hosting-domain assignment, provision a certificate valid for www.comparemytrip.in, then permanently redirect it to the preferred HTTPS non-www domain. Test the redirect after the certificate is valid; a redirect cannot fix a failed TLS handshake by itself.

Public Vercel hostname

Observed: <https://compare-my-trip-ruddy.vercel.app/> returned 200 and index/follow, with its canonical pointing to https://comparemytrip.in.

Recommendation: The canonical is a useful consolidation signal, but the second publicly accessible host remains. If it is only an alternate production alias, permanently redirect it to the preferred domain. If it serves a separate preview purpose, apply the appropriate preview access/indexing policy without affecting the production site. [R5]

AI-specific endpoint

Observed: </llms.txt> returned 404.

Recommendation: No urgent fix is needed for Google Search: its current guidance says that file is not required. Focus on crawlable, useful page content and accurate business identity. Other services may have different conventions, so assess those only for a concrete use case. [R1, R14]

Suggested validation after a future fix

Check HTTP, HTTPS, www and non-www behavior; verify the final location and certificate; confirm there are no loops; recheck page canonicals and the sitemap origin. This report has not changed DNS, certificates or deployment settings.

Structured data and AEO: accurate entities

Observed across the in-scope sitemap pages: Organization and WebSite JSON-LD; destination hubs include BreadcrumbList and ItemList; articles include BreadcrumbList and BlogPosting. These are useful existing assets. The audit parsed JSON-LD but did not certify rich-result eligibility in a validator.

Item	Recommended treatment
Organization	Use CompareMyTrip as the consistent company entity. Add the approved direct-provider description, contact details and verified owned profiles. Retain a stable organization identifier. Do not use generic social homepages as sameAs. [R4]
WebSite	Keep the site name, canonical origin and publisher tied to the same Organization. The site description should reflect your own plans/services.
Service	For cruise or future dedicated service pages, a Service object can identify CompareMyTrip as provider. Its description and service area must match visible, true content. Service markup is not a guaranteed Google rich result. [R12]
Destination hubs	Keep breadcrumb and list markup aligned with the visible hub and real card URLs. Do not insert unlisted offers or unverifiable starting prices for search engines. [R9]
Articles	Live BlogPosting identifies "CompareMyTrip" as a Person author. Use Organization for a company travel-desk byline, or a real named Person with accurate credentials. Add dateModified only for a substantive update. [R11]
FAQs	Write visible, helpful FAQs for readers and answer retrieval. Google retired FAQ rich results on 7 May 2026; do not promise FAQ dropdowns or rich-result eligibility. Existing semantic FAQ markup is optional, not the primary task. [R14]
Reviews	Only use genuine, visible and attributable feedback. Do not create aggregate ratings or business review stars as an SEO shortcut.
Special AI files	llms.txt is not needed for Google Search and does not improve its rankings or visibility. Useful visible content, crawl access and accurate entities take priority. [R1, R14]

AEO here means making accurate answers easy to understand and cite. There is no separate magic keyword list, guaranteed AI placement or schema that fixes inconsistent content. Google's current guidance retains ordinary SEO foundations. [R1]

Keyword strategy: assign one intent per page

Use keywords as topic labels and natural language, not repeated phrases. "Independent travel service provider" is a positioning phrase; demand-led terms such as Kerala tour packages or flight booking assistance are more specific customer search intents. Priorities below are editorial, not measured volume rankings.

Home	holiday packages in India and abroad	CompareMyTrip; direct travel booking; travel plans
Package listing	holiday packages	travel packages; compare holiday options; trip packages
Comparison	compare holiday packages	compare trip inclusions; compare itinerary and price
Destination hub	[destination] tour packages	[destination] holiday packages; [destination] travel plans
Contact / local	CompareMyTrip Bengaluru	travel services Bengaluru; CompareMyTrip contact
Cruise	cruise holidays	cruise holiday packages; cruise booking assistance
Add-on root	travel booking services	flights; hotels; visa assistance; airport transfers
Trek guide	weekend treks from Bengaluru	weekend treks from Bangalore; treks by difficulty
Informational guides	specific planning question	Munnar itinerary; Kerala houseboat selection; Andaman trip length

Start with these clusters

Brand/service clarity; Kerala, Goa, Karnataka and Rajasthan hubs; Bengaluru weekend planning; the ten existing articles; then cruise and add-on intents that the business wants to grow. Extend to other destinations after their hub content is made useful. The full destination map follows in the appendix.

Avoid keyword overlap

Let a destination hub answer the broad buying query. Let the article answer one planning question. Let /compare explain the comparison tool. Do not make every page target "best cheap travel packages India" or turn filters into dozens of near-identical landing pages.

Terms to avoid as brand positioning

Travel marketplace, operator aggregator, vendor portal, agent network, compare multiple operators, third-party seller platform. Do not add "best", "cheapest", "official" or "guaranteed" simply for search demand.

Description: Compare up to three CompareMyTrip plans side by side. Review trip details, prices and inclusions to choose the holiday that fits your priorities.

Keep the homepage H1 "Smart travel packages. Better choices." The revised supporting sentence and metadata can establish the service-provider identity without redesigning the hero.

Open Graph and social previews

Use the same approved page topic and provider identity in social titles/descriptions. Choose a relevant image for each hub/article; do not rely on one generic mountain image everywhere. Keep descriptive image alt text. None of this requires changing the visible page layout.

These descriptions intentionally avoid dynamic prices, unverified guarantees and unsupported claims about all inclusions being available. They also avoid representing the site as a supplier-comparison marketplace.

AEO answer bank: company and booking

These short drafts can replace or supplement existing FAQ answers. Use them in visible page content, not hidden blocks. Keep a single maintained version of shared answers; confirm policy-dependent details before publication.

What is CompareMyTrip?

CompareMyTrip is an independent travel service provider offering its own travel plans and services. You can explore the available options, compare their details and plan your trip directly with our team.

Does CompareMyTrip sell its own travel plans?

Yes. CompareMyTrip offers its own travel plans and services. Our comparison feature helps you choose between those plans, and our team handles your enquiry and booking discussions.

How do I compare plans?

Shortlist up to three CompareMyTrip plans and open the comparison view. Review the duration, price, accommodation, meals, transfers and booking conditions to understand the differences.

What happens after I enquire?

Your enquiry reaches the CompareMyTrip travel team. We discuss your preferences and explain the proposed trip, price, inclusions and booking conditions before you decide.

Are travel enquiries free?

Standard travel enquiries are free. The Bring Your Quote service has a separate Token of Interest process. Review its terms before paying for that service.

Is every displayed price a final quote?

The total depends on the selected trip, dates, travellers and options. Review the stated price basis and ask our team to confirm the complete amount and inclusions before booking.

Suggested placement: home/contact for the first four; add-on and quote process for fees; catalogue introduction or pricing help for the last. The fee distinction reflects the current public add-on wording and still requires operational sign-off.

AEO answer bank: services and travel planning

Can I request a trip that suits my preferences?

Tell our team your destination, dates, budget and travel preferences. We will discuss suitable CompareMyTrip options and explain which changes can be accommodated before you book.

Can I change or cancel a booking?

Change and cancellation conditions depend on the confirmed booking. Check the terms supplied before payment and contact CompareMyTrip with your booking reference to discuss a request.

Do you help with flights and hotels separately?

CompareMyTrip accepts flight and hotel enquiries as well as holiday enquiries. Share your route or destination, dates and preferences so our team can discuss suitable options.

Does visa assistance guarantee approval?

No. Visa assistance helps you understand the relevant documents and application steps. The decision rests with the relevant authority, and requirements depend on your nationality and journey.

What details are needed for a cruise enquiry?

Share your preferred destination or sailing, travel dates, number of travellers and cabin preferences. Our team can discuss the cruise options, inclusions and applicable booking conditions.

What should I include in a travel quote comparison?

Include your travel dates, travellers, itinerary, hotel and room details, meals, transport, activities and total price. A like-for-like comparison needs the same inclusions and price basis.

How do I contact CompareMyTrip?

Use our Contact page or the published phone and email details to reach the travel team. Share your travel requirements or booking reference so we can direct your enquiry appropriately.

Avoid a universal answer for best season, required visa, refund amount or included meals. Those answers require the exact destination, date, traveller or booking context.

Travel plans, directly from CompareMyTrip

CompareMyTrip is an independent travel service provider based in Bengaluru. We offer holiday plans and travel services, with a team you can contact directly to discuss your trip. Explore the available plans, compare the details and choose the option that suits your preferences.

Destination introduction: Kerala

Plan your Kerala holiday

Explore CompareMyTrip travel plans for Kerala and choose the experience that suits your pace. Review the route, trip length and inclusions, then speak with our team about your dates and preferences. Our Kerala travel guides can also help you think through Munnar, houseboat stays and time in Kochi.

Destination introduction: Karnataka

A useful comparison explainer

What matters when comparing holidays?

Start with the route and time available, then check accommodation, meals, transfers and activities. Compare the complete price for the same travellers and dates, including exclusions and booking conditions. A lower headline price may cover a different set of services.

Add-on root introduction

Travel services for the rest of your trip

Speak with CompareMyTrip about flight bookings, stays, visa assistance and transport. Choose the service you need and share your journey details. If you already have a travel quote, our Bring Your Quote service explains how to request a like-for-like comparison.

These are small optional additions, not instructions to replace the current page content. Place each near the relevant existing section. Do not publish a destination example if the described service or guide relationship is not supported at that time.

Travel guides: preserve the voice, improve evidence

All ten existing articles were read. Each has a clear topic, four substantive sections, a travel-desk byline, publication date, destination CTA and related-reading area. These are stronger AEO assets than a generic high-volume keyword article programme.

Authorship and experience

Observed: All article bylines identify CompareMyTrip / Travel desk, while homepage copy implies first-hand visits.

Recommendation: Use accurate authorship. A company byline is fine when labelled as a company. If an actual traveller or expert wrote/reviewed it, identify them truthfully and explain their experience. Do not invent biographies.

Question-led answers

Observed: Titles address useful questions, but articles often start directly with narrative sections.

Recommendation: Add a short direct answer to the main question, then retain the existing narrative. Use practical tables only when helpful, such as a day-by-day outline or effort comparison. Do not add repetitive FAQ blocks to every article.

Time-sensitive and safety-related facts

Observed: Articles contain permit, transport, opening-season, pricing and altitude advice.

Recommendation: Add official source links and a genuine last-reviewed date. The Spiti article minimizes potential urgency with a blanket three-hour-drive statement; have altitude advice professionally reviewed and remove blanket reassurance. CDC identifies breathlessness at rest as a serious warning sign. [R16]

Internal links and reading times

Observed: Articles link to catalogue filters; related destinations do not always match hub labels. Homepage reading times differ from article reading times.

Recommendation: Link to the relevant canonical destination hub, with qualified wording where the article itinerary differs from the offered plan. Use one reading-time calculation. Keep publication dates truthful.

Editorial maintenance rule

Before publishing or materially updating a guide: confirm the route; check permits/opening dates with the relevant authority; source price or timetable claims; review weather and safety statements; verify destination links; then update the review date. Do not change dates just to make content appear fresh.

The article appendix provides a primary keyword, title, description, proposed answer opening and article-specific verification notes for every guide. No package detail content is included.

Implementation order and measurement

Phase	Work after approval	Completion evidence
1. Identity	Correct home/contact FAQ, featured intro, trust/partner language, footer and homepage description. Replace cruise commission copy.	A search for operator/platform language in in-scope public copy finds no contradictory business claims; initial and loaded content agree.
2. Trust and links	Align guarantees with approved terms, verify public contact details, fix homepage trek targets and social links, clarify catalogue geography and repair the www certificate/redirect.	Link checks pass; approved business details are consistent; visible guarantees link to their complete applicable terms.
3. Page SEO	Apply selected metadata, improve priority destination intros, connect guide/hub links and add the compact company/comparison answers.	Unique titles and descriptions; self-canonicals; intended content visible in server response; no accidental noindex.
4. Entity and services	Correct author entity type; improve Organization details; decide whether separate service landing pages are justified.	Structured data matches visible content and passes syntax/appropriate feature validation. No invented claims.
5. Measure	Record search and enquiry baselines, review after indexing changes settle, then refine useful pages.	Compare consistent date ranges and page groups; record releases so later changes can be interpreted.

What to measure

In Search Console: indexing, queries, impressions, clicks and click-through rate for homepage, hubs, services and guides. In analytics: organic visits leading to qualified enquiries, phone/WhatsApp clicks and relevant service enquiries. Do not treat all button clicks as bookings.

AEO measurement

Bing Webmaster Tools' AI Performance report can show citations and grounding-query trends where available. These are citation metrics, not proof of traffic or business value. Supplement with a small repeatable question set and record date, engine, answer and cited URL; results will vary. [R13]

Acceptance boundary

All implementation is future work. No deployment, CMS edits, profile edits, form submissions or source-code changes were performed for this report. Individual package pages remain excluded.

Proposed description: Plan your Andaman trip length around island transfers and time on Havelock, Neil and Port Blair, with practical seasonal considerations.

Suggested answer opening: The number of days you need depends on the islands you include and the ferry connections between them. Allow time for transfers as well as beach days; this guide explains a five-night starting plan.

Sections reviewed and targeted actions: Ferries / trip length / diving / season and permits. Qualify "minimum" as an editorial planning recommendation. Verify current permits and sailing conditions with official sources; avoid a same-day flight connection promise.

Primary keyword: Nongriat living root bridge trek

Proposed title: Nongriat Root Bridge Trek: Planning Guide | CompareMyTrip

Proposed description: Prepare for the Nongriat living root bridge trek, with guidance on the climb, overnight planning, alternatives and seasonal conditions.

Sections reviewed and targeted actions: Steps / overnight / alternatives / season. Verify route and step-count estimates, accessibility and current conditions. Do not guarantee that leeches or weather risks disappear in a particular month.

APPENDIX C / UTILITY AND POLICY PAGES

Supporting routes and indexation decisions

Route / group	Observed	Recommended SEO role
/terms, /privacy, /refund-policy	200; noindex/nofollow; draft notice.	Publish approved content. These are trust/support pages, not keyword landing pages. Indexing is a later deliberate decision.
/login, /signup, /forgot-password	200; noindex/nofollow; robots-blocked.	Keep out of search. Review robots/noindex interaction if unwanted URLs are indexed.
/account	200; noindex/nofollow; robots-blocked.	Private utility. Authentication protects user content; SEO controls are not access control.
/checkout, /checkout/status	200; noindex/nofollow.	Transactional utility; no SEO keyword target. No payment was initiated.
/pay, /pay/status	200; noindex/nofollow.	Payment utilities; keep outside sitemap and search promotion.
/package-page-1 through -4	404 and noindex.	Legacy/demo-route status checked only; no detail-page content review included.
/add-on?service=hotels / visa / transport / byq	200; canonical /add-on; noindex/follow.	Tab states today. Use separate useful pages only if a service SEO expansion is approved.
Catalogue filters / deals	Sample filters canonicalize to /packages. /deals resolves to /packages?deals=1.	Browsing controls. Keep the canonical strategy coherent and avoid unlimited thin indexable combinations.
Admin	Excluded from sitemap and disallowed in robots. Private records not inspected.	Keep authenticated and outside search. No admin SEO content requested.

Do not use blanket robots changes as a quick fix. A URL blocked from crawling can still be known to a search engine, and the crawler may be unable to read its noindex. [R6, R7]
